

9th Emerging Scholars Colloquium
22 August 2022
University of St Andrews, Scotland (UK)

FIRST CALL FOR APPLICATIONS
Submission Deadline: 30 April 2022

The Centre for Social and Environmental Accounting Research (CSEAR) is pleased to organize the 9th Emerging Scholars Colloquium a one-day event for emerging scholars working on social and environmental accounting research. This year the colloquium will take place on 22 August 2022, immediately before the 32nd International Congress on Social and Environmental Accounting Research that will be held in University of St Andrews, Scotland (UK) on 23-25 August 2022. The participants of the Emerging Scholars Colloquium are expected to join the CSEAR UK Congress after the colloquium.

The aim of the colloquium is to provide an opportunity for emerging scholars in social and environmental accounting (SEA) research to present and discuss their research projects alongside a cohort of distinguished international faculty. The colloquium will maintain a relatively informal atmosphere to enable intensive intellectual debate.

In addition to supporting the advancement of research projects, we aspire to introduce emerging scholars into the SEA research community. Simultaneously, endeavour to facilitate a reflection on questions, issues, and topics potentially of interest to emerging scholars. For this purpose, we invite participants to actively engage by raising questions and concerns throughout the event creating a lively and engaged forum for discussion.

The Faculty

The colloquium will be organized into small group sessions guided by leading scholars in the field of SEA research, representing various research methodologies, topics, and a range of theoretical expertise. There will also be some plenary sessions where participants will be able to interact (both formally and informally) with faculty and organising committee members.

The event is organized by Ericka Costa (University of Trento, Italy), Leonardo Rinaldi (Royal Holloway University of London, London) and Andrea Romi (Texas Tech University, TX)

Criteria for the selection of participants

To facilitate dialogue and discussion, the number of emerging scholars invited to participate will be limited. Ideally, applicants should have at minimum made some progress in their doctoral research. All other early career scholars are also encouraged to apply to the colloquium.

Submissions will be selected according to:

- quality (broadly defined) of the research project proposal,
- subject matter directly or indirectly related to SEA, and
- geographical, gender, theoretical and methodological diversity.

Applications

Interested emerging scholars wishing to participate in this event are invited to apply by submitting ONE single Word file:

1. A document describing the research project (maximum 2,000 words). This proposal should include the title of the project and a summary of the research question, the theoretical and methodological framework(s) utilized or considered, the expected contribution, the potential implications from the research, the discussion of the results to date, and any challenges encountered. Appropriate bibliographical references outlining the positioning of the work should also be included, but will not be tallied towards the maximum word count.
2. A one-page curriculum vitae, including name, e-mail address, institutional affiliation, research interests, PhD supervisor (if applicable) and years in the doctoral program to date (if applicable).

Submission

Applications should be submitted no later than 30 April 2022 to ericka.costa@unitn.it, leonardo.rinaldi@rhul.ac.uk and andrea.romi@ttu.edu indicating "CSEAR Emerging Scholars Colloquium 2022" in the subject. Invited students will be notified by May 31, 2022

Practical information

Venue: The Gateway Building, University of St Andrews, North Haugh, St Andrews.

Accommodation: Like the CSEAR 2022 UK conference, the CSEAR Emerging Scholars Colloquium will be organized as a residential event. For more information, please visit CSEAR website.

Cost: This year's Emerging Scholars Colloquium will be sponsored by Accounting Forum and the Erivan K. Haub Chair in Business & Sustainability in the Schulich School of Business at York University, Canada. Thanks to the generous support from our sponsors, CSEAR will be able to offer bursaries to a limited number of participants. Scholars attending the colloquium are required to become a paid member of CSEAR and register for the 32nd International Congress on Social and Environmental Accounting Research. The CSEAR website will soon provide charges and full details of how to register at: <http://csear.co.uk>. Registration will open in Spring 2022.

More information about the event will be provided upon acceptance of the proposals.

Contact

Please contact Ericka Costa at ericka.costa@unitn.it, Leonardo Rinaldi at leonardo.rinaldi@rhul.ac.uk or Andi Romi at andrea.romi@ttu.edu if you have any questions with regards to the 9th CSEAR ESC.